Thanks for submitting your Discovery Cruise Request. Once I receive your form I will research the best cruise for your situation, as requested above. I work with select cruise lines in order to provide Discovery Cruise opportunities. I will attempt to find the best cruise that suits your requirements above, the purpose of which is to help you discover if a career on a cruise ship is for you! It is ultimately your choice whether to book a cruise with CruiseTechies, and which cruise to book. (I am also a full-service cruise agency, and can help you book any cruises at any time!)

Once you are ready to go on your cruise, I can inform the Cruise Director of your Discovery Cruise status.

When you're on board, check in with the Cruise Director (may have another title), or the Guest Services desk, and start exploring the ship and its theatre(s?!) and performance venues, to find out if this is the career you love!

After you return, I will send you a job board list for the major cruise lines, so that you can start applying for your new life style and career!

Also, it would be great if you'd submit an entry for the Cruise Techies blog to help others follow in your footsteps. Any photos or videos (none with faces of people who have not given written permission) would also be welcomed. Please send your submission to CruiseTechies@gmail.com.

Please be aware: I only book with cruise lines that have agreed to allow Discovery Cruisers to contact the theatre technicians on board ship. However, there is no guarantee that you will be able to connect with theatre technicians or other staff during your cruise, due to circumstances beyond control. If you are unable to directly talk with the theatre technicians, try talking with the Cruise Director, or another employee at the Guest Services desk, to explain your objectives. In the unlikely event that you are unable to talk with any theatre technicians during the entire cruise, all is not lost - you will have been able to experience life on board a ship, check out the types of venues, learn about the variety of entertainment, and observe the technical aspects of the shows. Rand Consulting and Design LLC dba Cruise Techies, is not responsible for any experiences on board ships or with the cruise lines.
